Revels

NOTE: There will be a November and December Revel. They are just not planned as of this date. You will receive word by phone or by mouth about time and places. We do need volunteers to autocrat these revels. If you are interested contact either Iana of the Magics Lost or Xanthius the Mighty Faytor.

Out of Town Events

RICHMOND PRIZE TOURNEY OCTOBER 29th and 30th in Blue Mountain. For you people that are not familiar with Blue Mountain it is mundanely called Moscow. There are several of our shire members going up to this event. It just might be worth while to attend.

Armouring

Armouring has been a favorite activity in our shire. We have several fighters working on armour. Robert Struanson, Brendon ap Brendon, Joseph Longhost, Wolfgang and Errica of the Overlands are all actively pursueing the Art of Armouring. It might be very soon that we have several fighters actively practicing. It would be a great improvement to have more than one fighter in armour at our next battle!

Cover

The cover of this issue is a black and white representation of our proposed Shire device. It is even ready for submission.

Announcements

MY LORDS AND LADIES PRAY ATTEND:

Elianor of Hinlandia has taken over duties of the Mistress of the Arts. All activities in the Arts should be reported to her.

Errica of the Overlands has taken over duties as Chronicler. All articles for the Moose Call should be directed her way.

Fighter practice has been cancelled indefinitely. This is due to lack of light and other miscellaneous problems.

Amouring is in full swing at Joseph longhost's workshop. Call before dropping by. Visitors are welcome.

Shire members are encouraged to attend shire meeting in SCA garb. This is meant to encourage an atmosphere more attuned to the SCA.

The Dragon Den has some SCA books in stock. It has THE KNOWN WORLD HANDBOKE, THE COPROA, and miscellaneous other books and booklets. Prices are reasonable.

If you had heard any rumors about the meeting place for Shire meetings changing, forget them. We will meet at perkins until further notice.

NOTES FROM THE CHRONICLER...

I am in need of articles for future issues of the Moose Call. I would like to see at least one article on the Arts and one on the Sciences. I know we are not all experts, but we do all have something to share with other members of the Shire. I am also in need of artwork. I know we have several Artisits in this Shire. If you want to see your artwork published, this is a good place to start. Any artwork submitted needs to be clear for reproduction. Black ink on white paper or heavy pencil on white paper. I also am in need of a Caligrapher. I know that someone out there told me calligraphy was their hobby. Whoever you are I need you...

This is the first issue that I have put out and I want to apologize for any misspellings or other "mistakes" I have made.

Due to the excessive cost of mailing numerous newsletters, the Moose Call will now be distributed at Shire meetings. If you are not there to pick up your copy, they will be available at the Dragon Den, 2817 Rose Hill. If you didn't know that is where our Seneschal and Hospitler live. We will send you a copy of the Moose Call if you pay 20 cents for every newsletter sent. As a service of the shire prospective members may have 2 copies sent to them free. After that we are not financially able to pick up the cost. We do actively exchange newsletters for free!

Somewhere in this newsletter the Errant Knights will make their first appearance. Be kind. They will continue to appear until I start getting some active participation from the Shire. This is a threat. If you have seen them already, you'll understand....

Battle of the Water Nymph

The arrival of the participants of the Battle of the Water Nymph began Friday and continued on into Saturday morning. Though the road into the Battle site was treacherous most of the fire chariots survived. There was one fire chariot that was suffering from severe lack of water. The Chariot Master and the occupants battled a great battle and brought the fire chariot into camp Sunday morning. Enough cannot be said about the courage and determination that brought this fire chariot into camp.

The event welcomed visitors from far off lands. These people, we thank for their presence. Some of these wanderers traveled great distances in search of pleasure and adventure. We hope they found both.

The camp was the site of a small merchants fair. These merchants of plenty, brought fine and wonderful things. There was a leather merchant of great skill, who brought pouches and vest. There was a merchant of the Brew. His skill was evident from the smiles on his customers faces. He brought Meads and Root Beer. There was a merchant selling Sweets and Cakes. These were delicious and soothed many a sweet tooth.

A round robin was held Saturday. Sir Corasu demonstrated the skill that brought him his knighthood. Several practice sessions, shanai bouts, and archery target shoots were held.

A feast was held early Saturday evening. The food was varied and plentiful. So wonderful was the food that we were overrun by hungry if peaceful mundanes.

A beautiful wedding was held at dusk. Ariel C'Squire and Wolfgang the Norseman were joined in wedlock in a Christain ceremony. The ceremony was as beautiful as the bride. Let it be known that some Norsemen are not as dumb as is rumored.

Saturday evening was spent enjoying the hot springs and listening to tales and songs around the Bardic Circle.

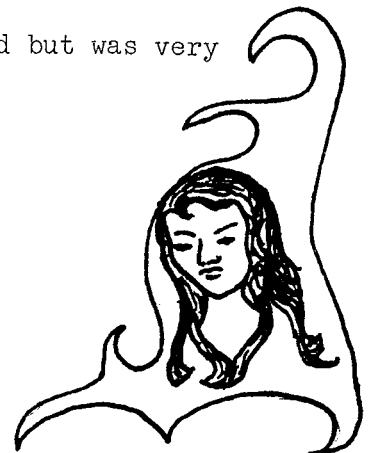

Twin Springs Hot Tub is rumored to have healing waters. This we found to be true. After soaking in the waters all hurts and hangovers seemed to disappear.

Sunday morning the sick fire chariot arrived. One of the occupants, after hearing of the Christain wedding ceremony, arranged a second ceremony. He, being a Norseman and a wise soul, conducted a proper Norse ceremony for Ariel and Wolfgang. Thus Ariel and Wolfgang were again joined as man and wife.

The Chief of Clan Robertson, having heard horrid tales about the members of Clan Gun eating campbells soup, challenged Clan Gunn to meet Clann Robertson next year in August at Twin Springs to defend their Clan honor.

Baron Robert de Spencer and the Baroness Leah de Spencer of the Barony of Loch Salann sent the chivalrous knight Sir Corasu in their stead to present a gift to the shire of Arn Hold. The gift was a fine length of rattan for the making of weapons and eventually fighters. The Shire of Arn Hold being so far from the civilized world where rattan is readily available, greatly cheered the presentation of such a fine gift.

Thus went the Battle of the Water Nymph. It went not as planned but was very enjoyable.

Directory Notes

I need feedback on phone numbers names misspelled, etc... I will type up a directory every second issue. Any people not responding by either a phone call or in person within 2 issues will be dropped from the directory. As the Shire gets larger and more people begin to participate, I will publish a Directory in and of itself. More than two pages in a newsletter is my personal limit. Sorry folks I am going to be hard nosed about this. When I do put out a Directory it will include addresses as well as names and phone numbers. Anyone wishing to have their name or number removed from any futher publication of the Moose Call just tell me! Errica
