FROM THE HOSPITALLAR . . .

I would like to thank Lady Andrea, Lord Brendan, M'lady Renate, and M'lord Sweyn for their support and attendance at the education demo held March 7th at the Locust Grove Grange Hall for yet another, and by far the largest, group of home teachers. This demo included displays, discussions, a short video, and a group participation dance, the latter of which might have gone much better than it did had not the bards-in-the-box developed an untimely dose of the plague. We were warmly received and thanked by many of the 107 mundanes in attendance, many in garb, and enjoyed the medieval-styled refreshments served at the demo's close.

The photo album in the Hospitallar's box is in desperate need of additional photos - costume shots, armor shots, combat or arts & crafts shots - please make a donation. If you still have the negatives of some of your better photographic captures, contact me and we will arrange to have duplicates made. In highest demand are photos containing the citizens of Arn Hold, but any photos will be graciously accepted.

If the Scadian missing a suit of mundane garb which includes a magenta hooded sweat shirt (XL), gray t-shirt bearing a prison swim team blazon, and a pair of36x37 Levis would claim same from the Hospitallar's office, the young lad currently being held for wrenching the wench of Hostel Haus will be released unharmed. The owner of said garb left it behind following Ingvarr's winter feast, and may be from out of the area. Help spread the word such that the rightful owner may be found, and the young lad set free.

The Hospitallar's office is seeking designs for a poster which could be placed in varous locations about our area promoting the SCA, announcing the existence of Arn Hold, and providing the mundane with information as to how to contact us. The poster campaign will begin as soon as a design is selected. It is hoped to have the posters distributed during the summer months.

Lord Einendoch of Hostel Haus

ARTEMESIAN CORONET LIST

Their Highnesses, Aveloc and Yasmin, Prince and Princess of Artemesia, invite all of their loyal subjects to draw nigh unto the Shire of Arn Hold, and there, upon the field of honor, choose the heirs of our great Principality.

On 7 April, A.S. XXLV, the Coronet List will be held at Barber Park off of Highway 21, next to the mighty Boise River in Boise, Idaho. This is a discreetly wet site. No glass containers are allowed. Sorry, no dogs are allowed in this park. There are fire pits available for our use. This is one of the more scenic and secluded parks in Boise, so we should have very few mundanes.

All entrants in the Coronet Tournament and their consorts must be current members of the Society. Please bring your proof of membership. His Highness has requested that all entrants in the list send him a letter of intent. Please put your name, your consort's name, and, if you are an unbelted fighter, the name of the knight who will speak for you. His Highness would like all letters postmarked no later than 31 March, or in his hands no later than 1 April. Please refer to the front of your Southwind for his Highnesses' address.

The site will open at 10:00 a.m. for set up. With their Highnesses' approval, we will have opening court at 11:00 a.m., with the fighting to commence as soon as armor inspection and list entries are completed.

There will be a feast to celebrate the day's activities at 6:00 p.m. The site for the feast is St. Paul's Catholic Center, 1915 University Drive. This is right across from the Boise State University Administration Building. The feast hall will open at 5:00 p.m. for set up. The Feastocrat promises a hearty feast. This is a wet site also.

Site fee is $3.00 and the feast fee is $6.00 (with a $1.00 discount for members). Smalls between 3-12 will be charged one half of the adult fee. The DEADLINE for feast reservations is 27 March. Please send all feast reservations to the Feastocrat. Make checks payable to the Shire of Arn Hold, SCA, Inc. To receive your membership discount, please listyour membership number on

For Friday night, there will be hot coals available for you to cook your own meats. However, due to damage done to the site last year, we cannot allow any fires on the site except where the site kitchen is.

We are soliciting any suggestions for games, classes, contests, etc. for this event. If you have any suggestions, please feel free to call the autocrats. Merchants please contact the autocrats if you wish to peddle your wares. There will be information and maps published as the date of our revelry draws nigh.

SUMMER SOLSTICE FAIR - LOCH SALANN

Lords, ladies, gentles all, I am on a very important quest and in need of assistance. I seek merchants - clothiers, armourers, jewelry makers and guildspeople of all kinds who would seek to line their pockets with gold and silver while enjoying the fun and excitement of a carnival. I seek craftspeople, gypsies, wizards and anyone who wishes to show their talents and sell their wares to the crowd of fun seeking, merrymakers at our carnival.

The date is 9-10 June, AS XXV at the Old Church Campground at Rockport, Utah. There will be a $1.00 fee per booth for merchants as well as a prize for the best merchant set up. For more information and reservations for booth space, please contact the merchant autocrat by 15 May, AS XXV.

Ingvarr would appreciate volunteers to help with the feast: set-up, serving, clean-up, and the loan of large roasting pans and crock pots.

The May event will include a tournament held to determine the Champion and Defender of Arn Hold. The highest-placing Arn Hold fighter will choose the lady he feels is the epitome of grace, chivalry and beauty for the Shire. This fighter and the lady he so chooses will hold these honorary titles for one year until the next Champion's tournament is held.The Seneschal requested that autocrats arranging for sites be careful not to pay more in site fees than will be feasibly taken in -- $50.00 is about the most that should be spent for a site fee for local events. It would be helpful to contact the Seneschal first before making site arrangements.

Caitlin and Christian announced that their wedding will be held 18 August, and will include an all-weapons tourney, and a reception at the Unitarian Church. More details will be forthcoming.

Aldwin announced that two 9-foot lengths of rattan remain for $2.00 per foot.

The populace, in a show of hands, demonstrated a preferance for Sunday evening meetings. The next meeting will be 22 April, at 8:00 pm on SUNDAY.

The meeting adjourned at 9:03 pm.

As a Principality fundraiser, we will be having a dessert auction after the feast, so be sure to save room!

The Shire of Arn Hold would like to extend its hospitality to all those who wish to attend, so please contact the Pegasus for crash space. For those who wish to stay at a hostelry, there are several available with easy access to the site. If you are planning on coming to the event on a "winged dragon," Boise has a large airport. By contacting the Pegasus, we can have someone there to pick you up and provide ground transportation.

The Pegasus will be providing maps to show where your crash space or the hostelry of your choice is located, and how to get to the tournament site and feast site from that location. Please contact the Pegasus so that he can send you this valuable information.

A special note to Brewers and Seamstresses - maps will be available for the famed "Brewer's Connection" and "Mill End Fabrics."

PARSLEY

Parsley, or Petroselinum crispum, is one of the most extensively used culinary herbs today, as it was in the past. The name Petroselinum is derived from the Greek word petros, meaning rock. The herb was often found growing among the rocks near the Mediterranean cliffs. The ancient Greeks did not usually eat parsley, but they used it to crown the victors at the Isthmian games, and fed it to the victors' horses in the belief that it would make them run faster. They also revered parsley as a symbol of death. It was a Greek custom to sprinkle the herb over tombs. The ancient Romans, on the other hand, used parsley extensively. It was used as a common salad food, in the belief that it would promote good digestion and cleanse the breath. Both the Greeks and the Romans used wreaths of parsley around their necks or heads at banquets, believing that it would prevent intoxication.

In medieval times, parsley was used widely throughout Europe, but the use was rooted deeply in superstitions. Because the parsley seeds germinate very slowly, it was believed that the seed must go down to the devil seven times before it could break into leaf. This association gave rise to other odd folklore surrounding the plant including the belief that it must be planted either by a witch, or by a pregnant woman on Good Friday (depending upon the region in which one lived) in order to be germinated. It was believed to be bad luck to transplant it, and some gardeners refused to keep the plant in their kitchen gardens. Luckily the herb flourishes with little care once it has taken root. Parsley was one of the primary colorants used by medieval cooks in food painting for illusion foods, as it can be chopped extremely fine to produce a green coloration. It was brewed as tea and used to soothe nerves, regulate digestion, as a diuretic, and in "women's teas" to regulate menstruation. In addition, it was used to sweeten the breath. The herb is said to have been introduced to England in 1548 from Sardinia.

10 March 1990

The meeting was called to order around 8:00 pm. The Seneschal mentioned that some officers are becoming lax in reporting in a timely fashion. She requested that officers turn in reports on time, and please date them. Also, Autocrat report forms are now available to facilitate collection and reporting of event data. The Seneschal reported that Arn Hold's attendance at Estrella was twice that of the big Barony to the East! Our participation at the Cherry Festival this year will be limited to more of a Demo status than a Tourney. Parade participation is in limbo, and fading. Any questions, problems, or comments regarding any given event should first be directed to that event's Autocrat.

The Knight Marshall reported that fighter practices have been held regularly, and five new individuals are currently working up towards fighter status.

The Herald reported an increasing amount of activity regarding submissions. We are getting nearer the goal of getting everyone to register a name, device or badge.

The Chronicler reported that she is now printing 30 copies of the Moose Call because of new subscribers and increasing exchange of newsletters with other Shires.

The Hospitaller reported that a successful demo was held for the Ruby Creek Home Teachers. He also reminded the members that crash space would be needed for Coronet List.

The March event, the Roman Revel, will be held at the Unitarian Church on Pearce Park Road. The prize for the tournament will be a pair of 9-piece articulated gauntlets. There will also be a boffer tourney, and a contest for the best costume made from your mother's old sheets. Also, a contest will be held for the best assassination of Ceasar.

Lady Els reported that plans for Coronet List are proceeding well. There will be a dessert auction held as a fundraiser. Please sign up with her if you can contribute a dessert (to serve four). She also requested that anyone willing to help her make signs

THESPIANS REVEL - LOCH SALANN

Where were you after the Trojan War? Before J.R. and the Ewing Clan, there was the House of Atreus . . .

What would you do if your father tried to sacrifice you, your mother killed your father for killing you, and then your brother killed your mother for killing your father???

The Baronial Players of Loch Salann will unravel this mystery in their production of IPHIGENIA IN TAURIS by Euripidies' at their annual Thespians Revel on 21 April, AS XXIV. The performance and revel will take place at the Loch Salann Baronial Theater (aka DATUS Archery Lanes) 7880 S. 1300 W. The site opens at 4:00 pm (appetizers will be served), with the play at 5:00 pm and a feast of Persian delights prepared by Lady Marguerite des Baux following. The site fee for the event will be $2.00 for members and $3.00 for nonmembers, with a feast fee of $4.00. Reservations are due by Wednesday, 18 April. Please make checkes out to the "Barony of Loch Salann, SCA, Inc." and send them to Lady Katrion MacKay na Aonaich, c/o Katina Wilson, 1187 S. 200 E., #10, Salt Lake City, UT 84115.

I have included a recipe for Parsley Bread, which was popular May Day fare because of its pale green color, and one recipe which utilizes it as a "salad herb."

PARSLEY BREAD (From Fabulous Feasts)

2 pkg. yeast
1 3/4 c. warm water
6 tblsp. honey
7-8 c. unbleached flour
6 sm. whole eggs, plus one yolk
2/3 c. currants, softened in warm water
1 2/3 tblsp. salt
6 tblsp. melted butter
1 1/2 tsp. basil
2/3 c. fresh parsley, chopped
1 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1 1/2 tsp. rosemary

1. Sprinkle yeast on 1/2 c. warm water; stir in the honey. Let rest for 5 min.
2. Add remaining water, and beat in 1/2 of the flour. Cover and let rise for 30-45 min. or until doubled.
3. Stir down and beat in 5 eggs plus one yolk, salt, and melted butter.
4. In a mortar, crush parsley with dried herbs into a paste. Mix this paste into the batter and beat well. Batter should be a very pale green. (If it is not, green enough, food coloring may be added, sparingly.)
5. Work the rest of the flour into the dough, kneading 10-12 min. until dough is smooth and elastic. Add small amounts of flour, if necessary.
6. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled, about 1 hr.
7. Punch down, knead in currants, and place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise until doubled, about 30 min.
8. Punch down and let rest for 5 min. Shape into loaves and place on greased cookie sheet. Cover with damp cloth and let rise to double, about 30 min.
9. Preheat oven to 375. Brush loaves with remaining whole egg, beaten. Bake for about 1 hr. or until nicely browned and hollow sounding when tapped.
10. Serve with hard cheese, butter and white wine.

HERB CUSTARD (From Pleyn Delit)

small handfull of herbs, including at least three of the following: parsley, mint, savory, sage, fennel (spinach may be used as one herb)
6 eggs, well beaten
1/2 tsp. salt
1/8 tsp. ginger
1/2 c. grated mild yellow cheese (gouda works well)
1-2 tblsp. butter

1. Melt the butter in a skillet.
2. Pour in beaten eggs, spices, and finely chopped herbs.
3. When the eggs are beginning to set on the bottom, sprinkle the cheese on top of the mixture and continue cooking on medium heat, covered, until the mixture solidifies. DO NOT STIR.
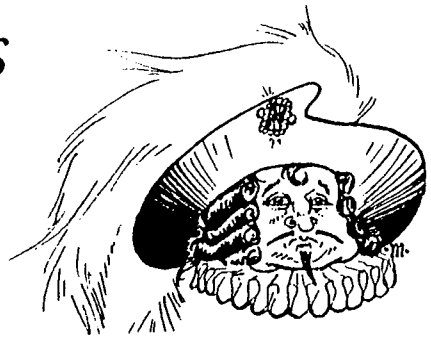
4. Serve warm with bread or scones.

Note: an alternate method of preparation is to bake at 325 for 20 minutes or until set.

AETHELRED'S ADVYCE



Dear Aethelred,

Last time I went to an out-of-town tournement, I found myself suddenly face-to-face with a person wearing one of those gold circlet things. I was so startled by this sudden confrontation that I blurted out, "Hi, your majesticness," and in trying to bow, Easter celebration activities are as follows: pace egging, morris dancing and mystery plays.

Pace Egging

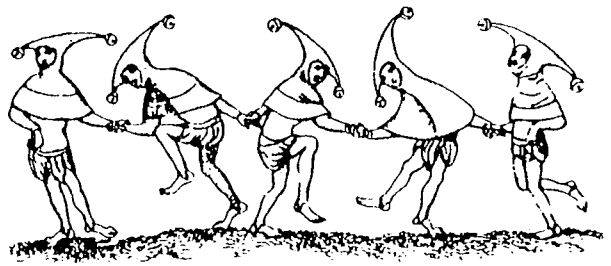
Pace eggs are hardboiled eggs decorated with flower and vegetable dyes. Decorations may also include lace, tiny gems, embroidery and precious metals. Popular motifs include family heraldic devices and symbols of one's trade. These eggs are given as payment to mummers who perform a short play and beg coins. A popular play is the comedy of St. George and the Dragon. Other pace egging activities may include competitions where the eggs are rolled through wickets or obstacle courses.

Morris Dancing

The name "morris" comes from the Moorish dancers of Spain. They wear bells on their ankles, and carry swords, staves or scarves with which they make elaborate patterns as they perform a rhythmic circle dance, jumping and leaping in a clockwise pattern. Their dances are traditional Spring rituals for fertility of the land. The insistant tapping steps and ringing of bells once were thought to wake the spirits of the fields, and the leaping was a reminder to them to let the grain grow tall.

Mystery Plays

Mystery plays dramatize popular biblical stories. They are usually played upon a moveable outdoor stage, which may move from village to village. The story of the Deluge was an especially popular Easter mystery.



A BRIEF DISCUSSION OF SPRING HOLIDAY CELEBRATIONS ASSOCIATED WITH APRIL/VERNAL EQUINOX/EASTER

Lord of Misrule, Motley and Widdershins

All Fool's Day is a celebration of the ridiculous . . . all is not what it seems, the April world is turned upside down. The place of honor at the high table is reserved for a jester, the Lord of Misrule. He may ask the feasters to perform all manner of silliness in his role as Lord of the Hall. Servers may perform their job backwards, serving the Hall first, and the High Table last. Bows may be made not toward people, but away from them. Speech may be reversed, the ends of the sentences coming first. Courses at the feast may be served in reverse order, as activities may be reversed, or widdershins (ie: circle dances may be performed counterclockwise, with the ladies taking the lords' parts, and vice versa). Another activity calls upon diners to make up ridiculous tales, and to try to convince their companions that the stories are true.

Feast of Fools and the Boy Bishop

All Fool's Day is often joined to an ecclesiatical holiday called the Feast of Fools. In churches, monasteries and schools, students control the teachers, and the young rule the old.

Easter

The medieval Easter feast is a moveable feast, an astonishing 120 day cycle of feasts and fasts commemorating one of the most profound religious mysteries and the simplest human urges towards light and warmth. Easter begins nine weeks before Easter Sunday on a holiday called Septuagesima and ends eight weeks after Easter Sunday on Trinity Day. Easter Sunday almost nevers occurs on the same day twice. Timing of Easter Sunday depends upon the full moon of the spring equinox, March 21. Easter Sunday is the first Sunday after that full moon. Everything else in the Easter cycle is calculated backward and forward from that date. Easter celebrations vary not only based upon location, but also upon the date in the Easter cycle. The three "universal" caught my heel in the hem of my robe and grabbed hold of his belt to try to keep myself from falling, and I'll never forget the look of stunned amusement on his face as his belt, acoutrements and all, clattered to the floor!

Now, I hear that we will have royal personages wandering about at the upcoming Coronet List, and I'm terrified of making a scene again. What should I do to avoid this?

Inigo the Inept

Dear Inigo,

First of all, you should remember that in the Current Middle Ages (as in that other mundane world), we have what is known as "personal space," and it is wise not to grab hold of another gentle person (at least not without being formally introduced), even if you are going to end up in a heap on the floor.

Secondly, you should be aware that not every person who wears a circlet is a King or Queen. For simplicity's sake, we shall list the major titles below:

Baron/Baroness - a landed Baron is the ceremonial head of a Barony, and is addressed "Your Excellency" or "Baron (Placename)." A court Baron is proclaimed by the Crown and the title is purely honorary. They are addressed as "Baron (own name)."

Count/Countess - individuals who have once been King and Queen. Theya are addressed as "Your Excellency," "My Lord Count/My Lady Countess," or "Count (firstname)/Countess (first name)."

Duke/Duchess - individuals who have been King and Queen at least twice. Addressed as "Your Grace," "My Lord Duke/Lady Duchess," or "Duke (first name)/Duchess (first name)."

King/Queen - those who have won, on the field of battle, the right of final authority for the kingdom. They are addressed as "Your Majesty," "Your Grace," "My Lord King/Queen," or "My Liege" (if you have sworn fealty).

Prince/Princess - those who have won, on the field of battle, the right of authority for the Principality. Addressed as "Your Highness," or "My Lord Prince/Princess."

Crown Prince/Princess - the heirs to the Kingdom, and addressed as "Your Royal Highness."

Tanist/Tanista - the heirs to the Principality, and addressed as "Your Highness."

Viscount/Viscountess - individuals who have been Prince/Princess. They are addressed as "Your Excellency," "My Lord Viscount/Lady Viscountess," or "Viscount (first name)/Viscountess (first name)."

If it is still difficult to keep all these titles and forms of address in mind, it is best to keep quiet, observe, and learn. However, in an unavoidable encounter, such as the one you mentioned, it might be wisest to simply make obesience as gracefully as possible and leave it at that.

CROWN TOURNEY - LOCH SALANN

Their Majesties, Mark and Jacqueline, King and Queen of Atenveldt, invite one and all to attend them at their Court in the Barony of Loch Salann. Their Majesties have declared a Tourney to be held to choose an heir to the Thrones of Atenveldt. They bid all Knights of the realm to make ready to fulfill their duty, and all others who would seek the Royal permission to enter the lists to prepare themselves.

The date of this grand tournament is 5 May, AS XXV. The site of the list and of the feast is the Draper City Hall, located at 12441 S. 900 E. The site fee for the event will be $2.00. This is a wet site. The site will open at 10:00 am with Their Majesties' opening court at 11:00 am. The tourney will begin shortly after court at Their Majesties pleasure.

The feast for Their Majesties and the new Crown Prince and Princess will follow in the evening. The price for the feast will be $5.00. All feast reservations will need to be received by Monday, 23 April, AS XXIV. Make checks payable to the "Barony of Loch Salann." All feast reservations should be directed to the Baronial Reeve of Loch Salann, Lady Katriona MacKay na Aonaich.If you are in need of crash space, please contact Lady Francesca d'Angelo Garaldi (801) 250-2274.

ARN HOLD CHAMPION/DEFENDER TOURNEY & THESPIAN DEBACLE

According to some sources the Chronicler has been fortunate enough to encounter, there could be a tournament in Veterans Park on 20 May, 1990 sometime during the day, followed by a share feast al fresco.

It is said that the highest Arn Hold finisher will be declared the Champion of Arn Hold, and the highest finisher overall will be named Defender of Arn Hold. The tourney will be fought double elimination, two out of three in the final round, with the combatants' choice of weapons - with the provision that sword & shield only be used twice overall.

Rumor also has it that the Arn Hold premiere of the play "The Fabulous Furry Fealty Brothers" will most probably be presented at some point during the after-tourney revelry by the "Arn Hold Fighter's Mob and Drinking Club Players."

We hope more "official" details will soon be forthcoming, so watch for them in the next issue!
